

A single black line graph on a white background. The line starts at the top left and trends upwards to the right, ending at the top right. There are small black L-shaped marks at each of the four corners of the page, likely indicating where the page was cut from a bound volume.

A single black line graph on a white background. The line starts at the top left and trends upwards to the right, ending at the top right.

